Campus life

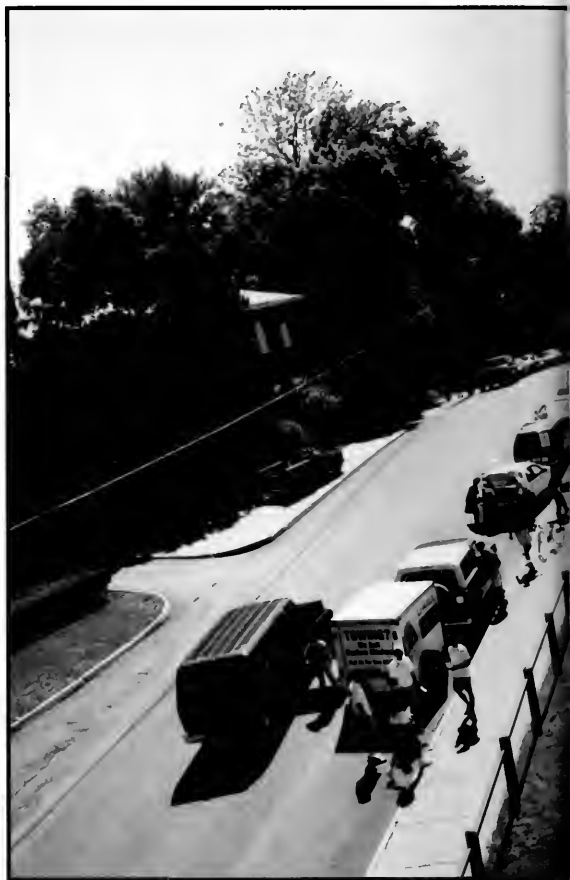

First Week

The first week of school mixes anticipation with apprehension as freshmen face the challenges of college life for the first time. Luggage, boxes, and U-Hauls covered the Graham-Lees and Baker-Davis-Gilliam Quads, while upperclassmen eagerly helped the new students settle in.

After their parents headed home, the Class of 1999 bonded for the first time with small group and community service activities, a picnic at the Liberty Hall ruins, and a Casino Night, which replaced Mandatory Fun 101. Freshmen registered for classes, met their faculty advisors, and came to terms with writing large checks for books, of all things!

The first few weeks allowed freshmen to become acclimated to college life and to balance their academic and social lives. Many freshmen quickly involved themselves in campus activities. Even though they have only been at W&L for a year, the Class of 1999 has already made a mark on campus.

Men's Rush

Washington and Lee's final Fall Rush commenced before freshmen stepped on campus. Freshmen received letters from each fraternity at their houses over the summer anxious to find out what the fraternities would be like. During the first days of school, fraternity men helped them move in and told them where the parties were. Bombarded with parties, skeet shoots, volleyball and cookouts, freshmen and brothers began to know each other. Both brothers and freshmen made tough decisions that would effect the rest of the year and future years at Washington and Lee.

Following the ordeal of formal rush, 215 men took the "Baptism by Beer," marking the beginning of four years of friendship and brotherhood.

Homecoming

The bright October sun and falling autumn leaves provided the perfect background for Washington and Lee's Homecoming Weekend. Alumni and their families flocked back to Lexington to reunite with old friends and reminisce about the "good old days." Although not many things change at W&L, this year's tailgating was unfamiliar to most returning alumni. The tailgating was moved from the freshman parking lot to the Liberty Hall ruins. In order to encourage attendance at the football game, tailgating ended before halftime.

The football team did not disappoint the eager crowd. The Generals defeated the Davidson Wildcats in an exciting game. During halftime, parachuters landed on Wilson Field to present the school with a donation from the reunion classes.

Senior Caroline Connolly, representing Phi Kappa Sigma, was crowned Homecoming Queen. "Widespread Panic" entertained students Friday night, and band parties completed the weekend's celebration.

Parents' Weekend

This year, Parents' Weekend began on October 27th with students escorting Mom and Dad to their Friday classes. On Saturday, the rain held off just long enough for everyone to enjoy the traditional picnic on the president's lawn and the tailgate parties before the football game. Following the game, many students and their parents headed to one of Lexington's restaurants to spend some quality time relaxing and dining before the evening's performances in Lee Chapel and Lenfest Center.

For students, the night was only beginning as they made their way to the many fraternity parties. Some ambitious parents tagged along to relive their college days. Sunday found parents heading home and students getting back to work after a great weekend of family bonding.

Halloween

Halloween brings out the child in each of us as we strive for hours to put together the perfect costume to wear to all of the fraternity parties. From the ridiculous to the sublime, every possible costume could be seen on the streets of Lexington. Celebration would not be complete without the traditional concert at Zollmann's on All Hollow's Eve.

Washington and Lee students did not concentrate on making only their own holiday one to remember. Gaines residents treated faculty members' children to candy and decorations. Many students who have community Little Brothers or Sisters took them out for an evening of trick-or-treating around town.

Overall, this Halloween was one to remember. After all, how many more years are we going to be able to dress up--and still retain a shred of dignity?

Christmas Weekend

We "decked the halls" and "donned our gay apparel" to ring in the Christmas season. The city of Lexington assumed its usual seasonal charm with its festive window displays, the lighting of the Christmas tree in Hopkin's Green, and the Candlelight Procession down Main Street. The pledges covered the fraternity houses with enough blinking lights to drain the power from a small country.

The Student Activities Board sponsored a band that entertained students at the Pavilion Friday night. Cocktail parties and band parties rounded out the weekend. Santa made an appearance at most of the fraternity houses. Students regretted to see the end of the weekend and face the reality of papers and finals. But W&L surely provides a wonderful Christmas home away from home before we go home to our families.

Women's Rush

Freshmen and upperclass women enjoyed the frenzy of preparing for the 1996 Women's Rush. The new mutual selection system was inaugurated and lightened the work load of many people. Over 150 women attended the Open House on Friday, January 12th. Skit Night followed Sunday night, when rushees were transported to Chi Omega's "Soul Train," Kappa Alpha Theta's "Theta Corral," Kappa Kappa Gamma's "American Bandstand," and Pi Beta Phi's "City of Angels." By Sisterhood Night, the mood turned more serious, as sisters reflected on their wonderful experiences in sororities.

Preference Night and Bid Day finally brought the moment of truth for the rushees. The rushees began their four years of friendship and sisterhood.

Founders' Day and ODK

Twenty-one undergraduate students, seven law students, and five honorary initiates were "tapped" into Omicron Delta Kappa during the Founders' Day/ODK Convocation on Friday, January 19 in Lee Chapel. Omicron Delta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity that recognizes superior leadership achievements in various aspects of campus life. ODK was founded at Washington and Lee in 1914.

Founders' Day is celebrated every year on the date of Robert E. Lee's birthday. This is the 125th time the university has celebrated General Lee's birthday in such a manner.

Faculty and students gathered at noon to hear Dean Ken Ruscio's speech. The new initiates were then "tapped," joining members around the nation in this prestigious honor fraternity.

1996 Republican Mock Convention

Mock Con

Years of careful and diligent preparation culminated in the best Mock Convention ever. The 1996 Republican Mock Convention festivities began in November with the Mock Convention Gala, during which the speakers for the convention were announced. David Stewart, Courteney Tucker, and Bob Ross along with the committee heads and state chairs dedicated most of their time winter term ensuring that the convention would be a success.

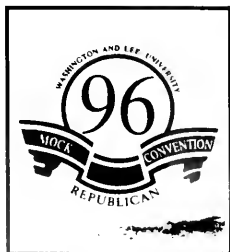

Friday, March 1st was a cold, but sunny morning. Everyone was up at the crack of dawn to see the parade through Lexington, which was complete with elephants and George and Barbara Bush impersonators. The floats captured humorous aspects of all fifty states and four territories.

Later that afternoon, the convention was called to order in the Warner Center. Governor George Allen and Congressman Steve DeLay spoke during the first session to a highly charged flag-waving, sign-toting crowd.

Mock Con

Everyone was quite spirited by Friday evening. The excitement mounted as Senator John Warner (R-VA) '49 addressed the delegates. But the crowd went wild when former Vice President Dan Quayle stepped up to the podium and delivered his speech. Some enthusiastic students even proposed drafting the former Vice President for the 1996 Presidential Race. After Vice President Quayle's speech, students joined their delegations for some after hours fun.

The next morning dawned earlier than most people expected. Some ambitious and tireless delegations even greeted the bright sunshine with "Tequila Sunrise" parties. But before the afternoon was over, we were treated to two excellent speeches by the foremost political thinkers of our day-- former Secretary of Education Bill Bennett and Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich (R-GA).

The state vote call was perhaps the most entertaining aspect of the afternoon. The audience and C-SPAN viewers will not soon forget Montana's claim to be "the last line of defense when Mexico rolls over Texas in its invasion of Canada." Everyone will also always remember that W&L correctly predicted that Senator Bob Dole will be the 1996 Republican nominee for president.

Lenfest Center

The theatre students at Washington and Lee showed off their talents on the stages of the Keller and Johnson Theaters again this year. Marilyn Baker's senior thesis project of "Pretty Fire" kicked off the fall term. The next production was Jeanne Dillon's senior thesis project, the well-received, "Children of a Lesser God," in which she played a deaf girl.

Pilobolus, an acrobatic dance company took over the stage of the Keller, shocking the students by their grace, skill, and lack of modesty. The adaptation of Faust done by a collaborative effort of students and faculty was the next major production. This unusual play, directed by Dr. Al Gordon, the head of the theatre department, drew large crowds.

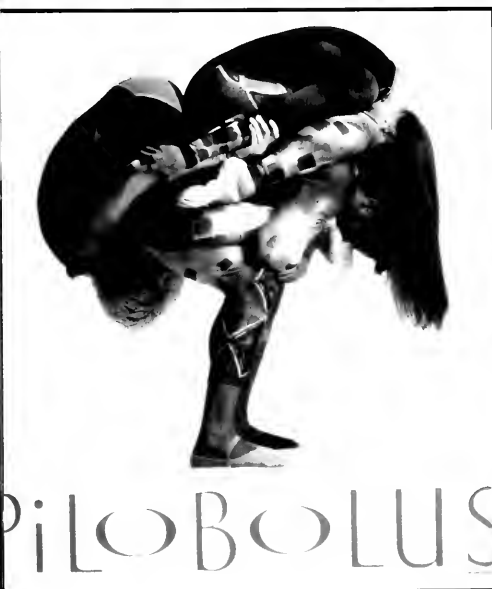

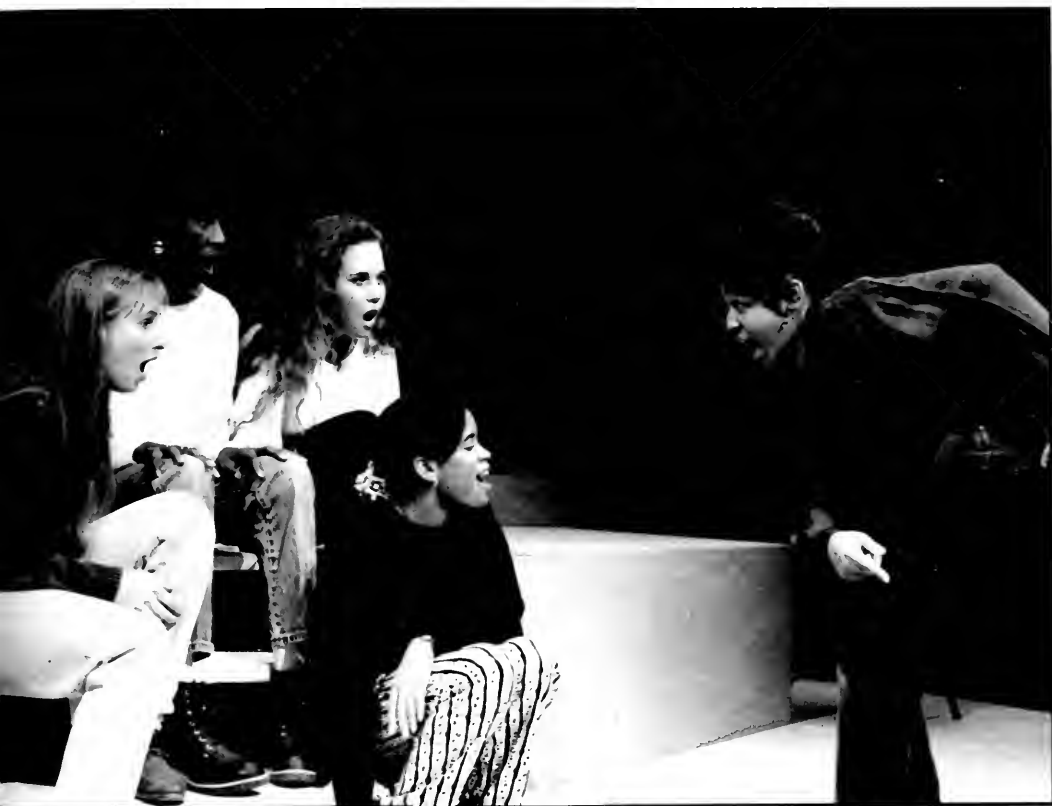

The One Acts followed, giving six students the opportunity to direct the plays of their own choosing. These plays were completely student run. The Lenfest season ended on a wonderful note, with Phaedra Cianciulli's thesis project, "Noises Off." W&L audiences loved the comical portrayal of a travelling theatre company.

Fancy Dress

The 89th Annual Fancy Dress Ball, "A Mad Tea Party," combined surreal decorations with childhood fun. March 22nd and 23rd was not a typical Fancy Dress weekend--the Ball was a few weeks later this year due to the timing of Mock Convention. Rap artist Coolio with opening act Skee-lo brought students and locals together at the Pavilion Thursday evening.

Students donned their tuxedos and formal dresses and hit the town for a nice dinner before the "social event of the South." Once at the Ball, students and faculty mingled and marveled at the giant mushroom and the White Rabbit. Duke Ellington's Royal Canadian's played swing music in the big gym, while another band played more contemporary music in the small gym.

While most of us were not lucky enough to catch a glimpse of Alice (or if we did, we don't remember), everyone had a wonderful evening.

Bands at fraternities kept students occupied and entertained Saturday afternoon and evening. Even though the weekend came to an end, everyone was glad they were able to attend another Fancy Dress Ball.

Entertainment

From the Lenfest Center to the Pavillion, W&L was once again inundated with quality entertainment that took the students' minds off thier studies and the fact that they didn't have a beer in their hands. To commemorate Mock Convention, the comedy troupe Capitol Steps entertained the crowd at the Lenfest Center. Widespread Panic kicked off Homecoming Weekend while Coolio did his part at Fancy Dress. Once again, W&L saw some of its own put on quality theater productions such as Noises Off and Faust.

Out and About

Nothing is closer to the truth here at W&L than our unofficial motto--work hard and play hard. So after a long week of classes and activities, everyone is ready for those Friday and Saturday night outings.

Students head out to fraternity parties or to the Palms for a few drinks. Weekend days provide the perfect opportunity for touring the local countryside or for visiting other local colleges. Others like to leave town for the weekend in order to get a taste of a larger city like Charlottesville, Richmond or Washington, D.C.

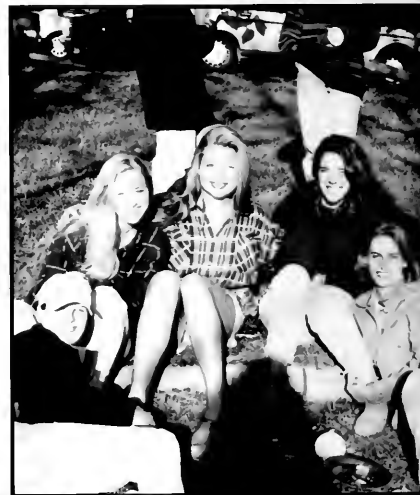

No matter what W&L students spend their weekend time doing, they would never trade anything for their precious weekend time.

Vacations

Everyone looks forward to vacations, especially when there are so many great places to go. Whether W&L students went to the beach, travelled overseas, or partied at Mardi Gras, they all came home with wonderful stories and memories.

One of the best opportunities to take advantage of at W&L is the opportunity to study abroad. This spring, the Economics trip toured Europe with Professor Hooks and Professor Velasquez. Another group of students spent their February break building homes for poor people in Latin America. The music department sponsored trips to Japan and Spain.

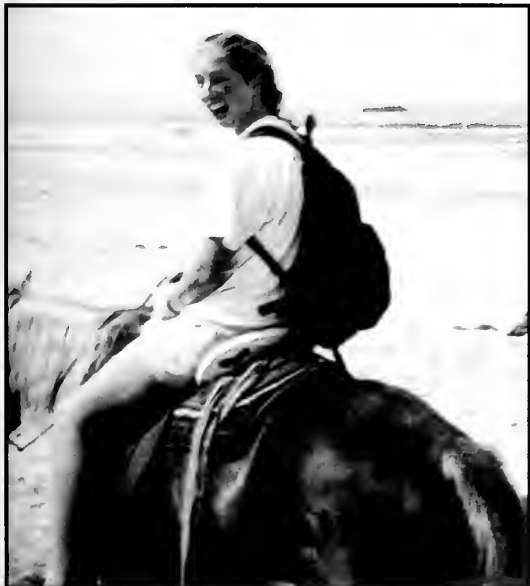

Even those students who were not lucky enough to tour the world's exotic places this year definitely welcomed the chance to go home and catch up with old friends. Besides, it's always nice to return home to clean laundry and Mom's cooking.

Spring Term

When the frisbees start to fly on the Hill and the flowers bloom throughout Lexington, everyone knows that Spring Term has once again arrived at W&L. Students and faculty take advantage of the beautiful weather for outdoor classes and hiking in the mountains. Long weekends at the beach and Saturdays at Goshen enhance the W&L experience.

Students flock to the Foxfield Races in Charlottesville in May. A long afternoon of fun in the sun with friends and drinks provides a great hiatus from a long week of class.

Spring Term is infamous for its emphasis on the more enjoyable aspects of college life. Classes are not as rigorous, and parties go on every night. With the exception of the unfortunate seniors who still had to complete a number of physical education requirements in order to graduate, everyone enjoyed another refreshing and invigorating Spring Term.

Alumni Weekend

Alumni flock back to Lexington every year during Spring Term for their class reunions. This year was no different. The weather cooperated with alumni plans and treated everyone to an unseasonably warm weekend for everyone to enjoy the many weekend activities.

Friday afternoon provided the perfect opportunity to stroll around the campus and the town and reminisce about the "good old days." The alums and their families were then able to enjoy a dinner on the Hill before the Southern Comfort concert in Lee Chapel. Leftover Salmon played on the lacrosse field later in the evening for current students and more recent alums. Many alumni joined the Senior Class and their dates for a dance in the Warner Center before the evening's fraternity parties.

The Annual Lee-Jackson lacrosse game pitted W&L against archrivals VMI Saturday afternoon at Wilson Field. The Generals showed the Keydets what they were made of in an exciting game under the bright afternoon sun. The Generals won 11-9.

After a nap and dinner, alumni headed out to the fraternity parties almost as eagerly as they had as freshmen. Everyone was happy to visit old friends and professors at another Alumni Weekend.

Foxfield

Although not too many people can actually confess to having seen them, the races in Charlottesville are an important date in the fall and spring social calendars of almost every W&L student.

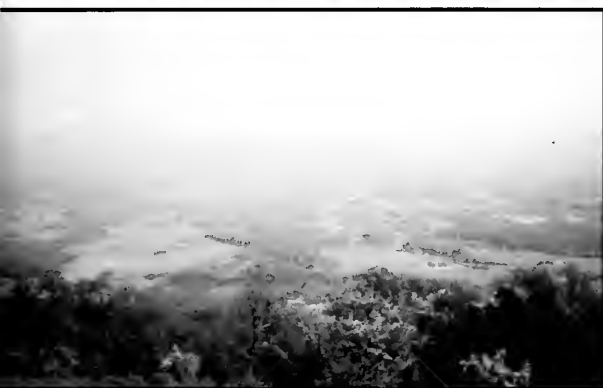

From the long lines to get into the place, to the long lines at the many portable bathrooms, Foxfield is a Saturday well spent. Girls in flowered dresses and big hats pass by as guys in blue oxford shirts and tan shorts pour them another drink. When it's time to pack up the tailgate and return to Lexington, the most often heard comment is "There were horses here?!"

People stand on their cars, straining to catch a sight of what is happening all around them.

The horses!

The view if you pull over on the way to Charlottesville.

Senior Party

Washington and Lee students bid the graduating seniors a rowdy farewell at the Annual Senior Party at Zollman's Pavilion. Exams had ended only a few short hours before underclassmen and seniors alike piled into cars and pickup trucks to head out to the concert.

Magraw Gap provided the opening entertainment. Soon after, Blue Miracle took the stage and played their distinctive brand of rock and blues until after two in the morning. By that time, the rain had begun, and more than a few of us took some very wet rides back to Lexington.

In spite of the weather, the Senior Party was a fine way to say goodbye to all the friends who have made their indelible mark on Washington and Lee over the past four years.

Two things that the graduating seniors will never forget about Zollman's: the kegs and the bathrooms.

Baccalaureate

Washington and Lee's Class of 1996 was blessed with a beautiful day for the Baccalaureate service. President Elrod began the ceremony by addressing the family, friends, graduates, and professors assembled on the Front Lawn in front of the historic Lee house.

Professor Litzenburg, the current University Chaplain, led the prayer service. Then Scott O'Dell, a 1976 W&L Law School graduate and current pastor of a Roanoke parish gave words of advice and wisdom to the soon-to-be graduates. The focus of his speech was time. He included anecdotes about his time at Washington and Lee and stories about the ever-present Robert E. Lee. He ended his speech saying that "the time is always right to do right."

Throughout the ceremony the University Chorus graced the audience with the sounds of their voices, singing two songs that embody W&L, "Shenandoah" and the Washington and Lee Hymn. The weather could not have been nicer as the students had their luncheon on the lawn, and proceeded to parties at the houses of their classmates and friends.

Graduation

June 6, 1996 was a sunny, warm day for Washington and Lee's commencement exercises. 373 seniors received their dipomas on this day, and Graig Fantuzzi was named valedictorian with the second highest grade point average in school history. Honorary degrees were awarded to John Franklin (Doctor of Letters), James Livesay (Doctor of Science), and John Wilson (Doctor of Letters). E.C. Vice President Robert Turner addressed his class with a speech both amusing and enlightening. •For months, baseball fans were talking about The Streak. With each game he played, Baltimore Orioles shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. drew one game closer to breaking one of baseball's "unbreakable" records. On September 6, 1995, Ripken took the field, as he had done in every Orioles game since May 30, 1982, to play against the California Angels. This was consecutive game 2, 131 - but not until the fifth inning when baseball games become official had Ripken surpassed Lou Gehrig's record of 2,130 games. Ripken's ovation lasted 22 minutes.

•"The sight you see before you...was impossible, was unthinkable, just three years ago," Israel's Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told those present at the East Room of the White House. The "sight" was the September 28, 1995 signing of an accord between Israel and the PLO that would end Israel's military occupation of West Bank cities and lay the foundation for a Palestinian state. President Clinton presided over the ceremony which featured two hours of speeches and pageantry before an audience of diplomats, foreign ministers, Cabinet secretaries, and members of Congress.

•President Clinton entered the third year of his term as no president has done for 40 years - with a Republican Congress. As he began this new year, he resolved to "put aside partisan differences." In April, 1995, the Senate passed a bill that cut $16 billion from various social programs while sparing other items favored by Clinton. Although the President called the bill "the model of how we can work together," the gap remained wide over such issues as tax cuts, welfare reform, and spending reductions. On April 14, 1995, Clinton filed the necessary documents with Federal Election Commission and made formal his candidacy for re-election.

•This summer it seemed as though Hootie and the Blowfish were playing every time you turned on the radio. The four-man rock group that seemed to come out of nowhere and dominate the audio scene did not go unnoticed on the video scene. Hootie, featuring vocals by lead singer Darius Rucker, won an MTV award for best new artist for their video, "Hold My Hand." The presentation was made at the 12th annual MTV Video Music Awards held in September 1995 at Radio City Music Hall in New York. Dennis Miller hosted the ceremony, which included awards Tom Petty for best male video, "You Don't Know How It Feels," and Madonna for best female video, "Take a Bow." TLC won video of the year for "Waterfalls," a cautionary AIDS song.

•For a few days, a religious man dominated the headlines. And for a change gave America something good to talk about. The newsmaker was Pope John Paul II, and the occasion was his visit to the United States in early October 1995. The 75-year-old pontiff began his ve-day visit by addressing the United Nations General Assembly in conjunction with the organization's 50th anniversary. The gathering in Washington, D.C. on October 16, 1995 was tremendous. Hundreds of thousands of African-American men converged on the nation's capital in response to the call from Louis Farrakhan, the Nation of Islam's leader, to rally for unity and brotherhood. It was the fourth largest demonstration in Washington's history, and the largest predominately African-American gathering.

The song ends for Jerry Garcia.

Indians compiled a lofty team batting average of .291 for the season, while the Braves pitching staff, led by Greg Maddux (19-2), was widely acknowledged to be the game's best. The Braves won the series in six games, after taking a two games to none lead in their home park. They won the Series on their return to Atlanta with a 1-0 victory marked by David Justice's home run and the one-hit pitching of Tom Glavine, who was named Series MVP.

- The leader of the Grateful Dead was gone. Jerry Garcia, co-founder of rock music's the Grateful Dead, died of a heart attack while in a drug rehabilitation center in suburban San Francisco. The guitarist, composer, and singer passed away on August 9, 1995, just eight days after his 53rd birthday. Deadheads, as the group's followers were known, quickly gathered to note the passing of their fallen leader. A single red rose was tied to a tree in front of the San Francisco address where the dead began in 1964.
- Despite continued NATO air strikes and U.N. peace efforts, the conflict in the former Yugoslavia rages on, with no letup in sight. 1995 began with a four month ceasefire mediated by former United States President Jimmy Carter, but the truce didn't put an end to the fighting. The former Yugoslavia has been the scene of a civil war since June 1991, and the fighting intensified in 1992 after the republic of Bosnia-Herzegovina declared its independence.

The O.J. trial is decided.

- Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin was shot to death on November 4, 1995, moments after telling cheering thousands that "people really want peace." Rabin was a war hero who became a peacemaker, and police said an Israeli described by friends as a right-winger confessed to firing the fatal shots.
- On September 5, 1995, France resumed underground nuclear testing when it detonated a device under a remote atoll in the South Pacific. Worldwide protests preceded the nuclear test, and criticism from the world followed it. Anti-nuclear demonstrations were staged in various parts of the world, including Paris, Tokyo, Switzerland, Australia, and Hiroshima.
- On the evening of October 4, 1995, Hurricane Opal came ashore on Florida's Gulf Coast, packing sustained winds of 125 miles per hour. Before it was through, the storm had killed at least 20 people in four states, and caused at least $1.8 billion in damages to insured properties, making it the third-costliest storm in U.S. history.

Hurricane Opal leaves her signature behind.

The Pope visits the United States.

The storm destroyed or damaged thousands of homes and businesses along a 120 mile stretch of Florida panhandle. Many of its residents were still recovering from the effects of Hurricane Erin two months earlier.

Letter from the President

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY

Lexington, Virginia 24450-0303

Office of the President
(540) 463-8700

TO: Members of the Washington and Lee Student Body

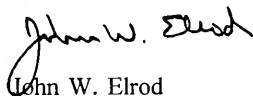

FROM: John W. Elrod

I write these words for the 1996 Calyx at the conclusion of the 1996 Reunion Weekend. Mrs. Elrod and I had the pleasure of attending a black-tie dinner for the Class of '46, here to celebrate its 50th reunion. The Calyx of that year was present at the dinner and, quite naturally, of intense interest to the members of that class and their beloved wives.

The photographs in that issue of the Calyx brought back serene memories of a very special time in their lives. Even though their college years were interrupted by war, they still remember them with a fondness few other moments in their past will ever enjoy. More quickly than you realize, you will soon join the ranks of 19,000 alumni of this great University, and over time memories of your years here will become one of the closet held treasures of your past. As time clouds the sharpness of your recollections of your Washington and Lee years, this wonderful book will serve to clarify your memories of the rich variety of life on this exquisite campus, in our historic town, and in the beautiful Rockbridge County countryside.

Enjoy this book of memories over the years, and let it be a constant reminder of the glories of your life at Washington and Lee University.

Very sincerely

THE TRIDENT

Every Wednesday students looked around campus to get their copy of the Trident to find out what had happened over the weekend, while on Fridays, they reached for the Ring-tum Phi. The headlines ranged from drug busts and retiring faculty members to the addition of a new sorority. Whatever the case, these two newspapers never failed to keep the students well informed.

Another kind of publication on campus is the journal. The Journal of Science modeled students work twice throughout the year, showing other students how thoughtful their peers were. The Ariel showed the creative side of our fellow students.

Whatever publication you prefer reading, you have to agree that the students put a lot of time and effort into producing the best possible publication on the campus of Washington and Lee.

The Generals were just a couple of breaks away from going 8-1, but won five of their final six games, including big conference wins over Hampden-Sydney and Guilford, to finish the 1995 season with a 5-3-1 record. Frank Miriello, who had been serving as interim coach since the tragic death of Gary Fallon in April, was named full-time head coach midway through the season.

Returning to those breaks now: Washington and Lee played Centre to a 7-7 tie in September, then suffered two extremely frustrating losses later on. The Generals fell 24-21 to Randolph-Macon in its fifth game when a blocked field goal was returned for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. A 2-0 loss to Swarthmore on mud-covered Wilson Field closed the season.

W&L senior defensive tackle Robert Hull was named The Sporting News' preseason Division III defensive player of the year, and lived up to that billing with a school-record 14 sacks. Hull was named ODAC player of the year and was joined on the All-ODAC first team by junior quarterback Brooks Fischer, senior safety Stuart Hogue and senior offensive tackle Robert Turner. Named to the second team were seniors Butler Ball (safety), Andrew Statton (offensive guard), Drew Thomas (punter), and James Urban (receiver).

#75 Robert Hull blocks his opponent.

#83 Casey Gilmore carries the ball through the competition.

Volleyball

W&L's volleyball program has slowly been climbing the ladder of success in recent years, but this year they took a major leap forward in winning the school's first ODAC championship. W&L finished with its best mark in school-history at 29-6 and rolled over Emory & Henry, Guilford, and Roanoke to win this year's ODAC tournament.

Sophomore Hilary Martin was named ODAC player of the year after establishing W&L single-season marks for kills (356) and hitting percentage (.345). She was joined on the All-ODAC first team by senior Cheryl Taurassi, who broke her own school marks for assists in a match (50), season (527) and career (1,964). Junior Virginia Yoerg had 113 blocks and earned second team All-ODAC honors. All three were named to the all-tournament team while Taurassi was named tournament MVP.

Men's Soccer

The Generals started the season by winning four straight games, but their youth caught up with them by season's end, and they finished with a 7-9 mark, falling to Emory & Henry 5-1 in the quarterfinal of the ODAC Tournament.

Freshman sweeper Mikel Parker dominated play at times this season and was honored with a selection to the All-ODAC first team. His high school teammate Sam Chase was the leading scorer in the league and broke Scott Fechnay's 28-year-old school record for goals in a season with 18 to earn second team All-conference honors.

During the regular season, W&L beat Emory & Henry 4-1, handing the Wasps their only conference loss of the year. Three of the Generals' losses came by identical 2-1 scores to conference rivals Eastern Mennonite, Hampden-Sydney, and Randolph-Macon.

The Generals played without record-breaker Erica Reineke for the first half of the season, but the offense scored 57 goals this season, two shy of last year's school record. Freshman Karin Treese and Junior Michelle Bauman did most of the damage, notching 14 goals each.

Bauman was named to the All-ODAC first team along with freshman Nicole Johnson and Treese was joined on the second team by sophomores Leighton Kirby and Loraine Taurassi.

Schaeffer won all but one race leading up to the NCAA Division III championships, including the NCAA Division III South/Southeast regional for the third time in her career.

W&L won a state championship for the fourth straight season, but was just edged out by Lynchburg for the conference title. Schaeffer was the individual winner and was joined on the All-ODAC team by sophomore Carson Flowers and junior Nat Messmore.

The Generals came out of nowhere to win the ODAC championship last season and took things a step further this year, winning the NCAA Division III South/Southeast regional to qualify for the NCAA Division III championships. W&L, which won its first state championship this season, entered the NCAA meet ranked 22nd in the country.

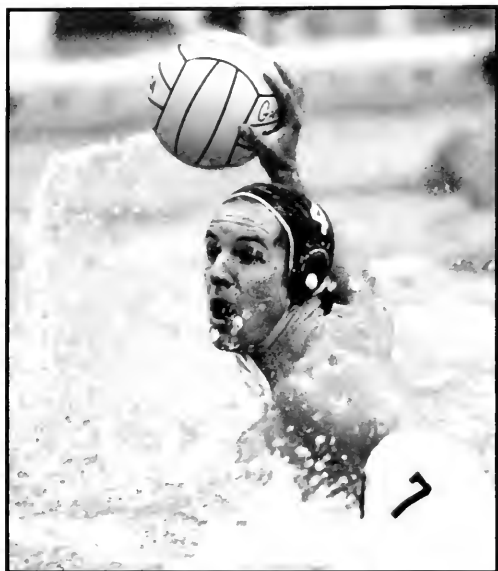

Senior Brad Paye and sophomore Jason Callen were W&L's top runners this season with Callen taking the ODAC individual championship to earn conference runner of the year honors. Callen, Paye, and sophomore Taylor Schultz were named all-region.

They ran so fast we couldn't even get a picture!!!

Water Polo

Senior Rich Cober prepares to shoot.

While the Generals had a down year with a 10-12 record, they posted one of the biggest upset wins in the program's history against Navy, sinking the nationally ranked Midshipmen 16-15 on a two-pointer at the buzzer by senior Rich Cober in later September sending shock waves through the water polo community. W&L hosted the Easter Water Polo Association Division III championships in late October, but a bid for the school's third title in four years ended with a 12-8 loss to Johns Hopkins in the finals following wins over MIT and the Merchant Marine Academy.

Junior James Silberstein was W&L's top offensive weapon with 52 goals this season, while Cober added 35.

Wrestling

The Generals ended the season with a 1-5 dual meet record, but when you look at the numbers, they were just five points away from being 3-3. Newport News Apprentice managed to squeak by with a 25-21 victory and Division I Davidson escaped with a 25-24 win. Both of these losses came down to the final match. W&L's lone victory was a 33-15 decision over Johns Hopkins at the W&L Quadrangular in mid-January.

The foundation of this year's team were the two senior captains -- Rob de Clerk (Easton, Md.) at 142 and Colin Looney (Durham, N.C.) at 190. De Clerk finished the season with a 6-11 record, 3-3 in dual matches. Looney once again relied on his methodical approach to the sport, wrapping his up career with a 10-9 record along with 15 takedowns and a pin. Looney advanced to the finals at the W&L Invitational and at the Virginia Division II-III state championships.

One of the biggest improvements of this year's team was the sheer number of wrestlers. Fourteen wrestlers competed for the Generals this season and W&L had all the weight classes filled for the majority of the season.

W&L's lower weight classes scored consistently. Sophomore Allen West (Baltimore, Md.) was 6-11 at 118 while freshman Ryan Walker (Woodstock, Va.) emerged at 126 as a capable grappler. Walker advanced to the finals at the W&L Invitational.

Junior Adam Branson (Worthington, Ohio) continued his steady improvement, ending the season at 7-10 at 134 with a pin and 12 takedowns and a second place finish at the Virginia Division II-III championships.

Joining Branson as next year's leaders of this young squad will be junior T.J. Griffin (Devon, Pa.). Griffin shifted between the 150 and 158 weight class, going 3-9 while leading the team in pins with two. Sophomore heavyweights David Foster (Schnecksville, Pa.) and Derek Minshew (Cave Spring, Ga.) return next year with classmate West. An outstanding batch of freshman, led by Walker and Colin Looney's younger brother Chris (Durham, N.C.), return in 1997. Also back will be Silas Morse (White City, Ore.) at 167 and Marshall Sutton (Oakton, Va.) at 177.

The loss of seniors de Clerk, Looney, and Cary Hansel (Martinsburg, W. Va.) will hurt, but head coach Gary Franke feels the depth he developed this season has enough talent to temper their loss. "Our three seniors provided leadership that will not be easily replaced," said Franke. "However we have many wrestlers who gained experience this year and will be ready to bring us to the next level."

Women's Basketball

The final record is not always the best indicator of improvement in a program. This is certainly the case with the 1995-96 women's basketball team. The Generals ended the season with a 5-18 mark, 3-17 in the conference, but the growth shown by the final game of the season was dramatic and raises hopes for next season.

Head Coach Terri Dadio was forced to play with a small corps to start the season, relying on the leadership of senior co-captains Allison Hull and Sandra Holmes. The backbone of the team for the last three seasons, Hull and Holmes once again produced for W&L. Hull diversified her game this season, allowing Dadio to put her in either the point or shooting guard role. Holmes was the leading scorer (11.4 ppg) and rebounder (9.2 rpg) for the second straight year, and racked up seven double-doubles during the season.

Sophomore Tonia Dean was a big contributor and the most improved player on the team. She crashed the boards hard this season, averaging over seven caroms a game while netting 9.4 points per contest.

The early season also saw the emergence of freshman Chrissy Burghardt. The 5-8 gunner alternated between shooting guard and small forward, finishing second on the team in scoring (11.0 ppg) and first in assists. Burghardt's 254 points set a new school record for freshmen. Amber Hinkle and Anna Lowden also contributed in their first season. Hinkle averaged 6.1 points and 4.1 rebounds per game as the team's backup center while Lowden led the team in free throw shooting.

After the holiday break, three new faces joined the Generals, giving the team much-needed depth. Michelle Hicks, the single season steals record holder (71) returned once again to lead the team in rips with 5 in just 18 games. Along with Hicks, a couple of two sport freshmen athletes joined the team. Megan Snodgrass, a starter on the record-setting volleyball team this fall, added her athleticism to the team in the front court. Karin Treese, an all-ODAC selection in women's soccer this fall, gave Dadio another ballhandler (34 assists in 14 games) who could score (7.6 ppg).

The team swept Hollins for the second straight year and knocked off Randolph-Macon Woman's College 58-48 to avenge an earlier defeat. Late in the season W&L won three of six games, including a 73-11 dismantling of Villa Julie that set records for the largest scoring margin and the fewest points by an opponent.

Perhaps W&L's biggest signs of improvement were shown in losses. The Generals were competitive against some of the better teams in the ODAC down the stretch, including a seven-point loss to Bridgewater after falling to the Eagles by 27 in their December meeting.

"We were a different team at the end of the season," said Dadio, who finishes her third year with the Generals. "The improvement that we made throughout the course of the year makes me very optimistic about next season. I am please with the effort and dedication that our players put forth this season."

Freshman Karin Treese plunges by the competition.

Men's Basketball

W&L opened the season against Emory and had a big lead before the Eagles rallied and sent the game into overtime on a three-pointer at the buzzer. Emory went on to an 89-86 win and the Generals never fully recovered, dropping their first six non-league games before beginning ODAC play.

The Generals opened the ODAC season at defending league champion Hampden-Sydney and let the Tigers by 12 early in the second half, before faltering down the stretch in a 65-60 loss. W&L then dropped two more league games before beating Emory & Henry 92-86 in the final game of the fall term.

W&L picked up a win over Lynchburg in early January and despite then losing seven straight games remained in the hunt for an ODAC playoff berth after downing Eastern Mennonite 100-79. W&L's hopes for the final playoff spot ended when the Royals upset Virginia Wesleyan in the final week of the season to take away a possible playoff deciding game between W&L and EMU.

Senior guard Jon Coffman was a tri-captain along with Dyer and Carter and finished second on the team in scoring with an average of 10.9 points per game and led the team with 42 three-pointers and 77 assists. Coffman finished his career with 116 career three-pointers. Carter averaged 6.5 points and 4.8 rebounds in his final season.

Junior guard Chris Couzen will inherit the leadership reigns next season after averaging 10.4 points and leading the team in steals with 44 this year. Several other young players who saw key playing time will be back next year as well.

Sophomore big men Kelly Dyer and Eric Zavolinsky both got starting experience this year with Dyer averaging 7.7 points and 4.5 rebounds. Freshmen guards Kevin Cobbin, B.J. Jamison, and Zeb Mellett also made contributions.

Women's Swimming

Head Coach Kiki Jacobs' women's swimming program continued to terrorize the Old Dominion Athletic Conference this winter and then dominated the ODAC/Atlantic States Championships in late February at Radford.

During the regular season, the Generals racked up an 8-5 overall record against one of their toughest schedules ever, including a perfect 3-0 in the ODAC, lifting their winning streak against conference opponents to a staggering 25 meets. The Generals have not lost in the ODAC since falling to Sweet Briar in 1987, the second year of the program's existence.

Non-conference victories included easy wins over Centre, Buffalo State and Radford. W&L also had two heart-stopping wins, beating Transylvania by three points and Catholic by a single point by taking the final relay event.

W&L has now won eight meets in each of the last four seasons, posting winning records each time.

The Generals have hit their peak the last two years right at championship time, and this year was no different. W&L's closest competitor at the ODAC/Atlantic States Championships, the College of Notre Dame, was just under 400 points away (846-452). Likewise, Hollins came nearest to W&L within the conference, but its 430 points were well behind the Generals' 723.

At the conference championships, W&L was helped by nine-time All-American Rebekah Prince. Prince took first in the 200 back and second in the 200 IM and 100 back along with being part of four first place relay teams. She qualified for the NCAA's in her three individual events. For her efforts, she was named Co-ODAC Swimmer of the Year--the third time she has won the honor.

Prince was far from the only swimmer to help the Generals dominate the meet. In all the Generals won 13 of the 18 races and had at least two of the top five finishers in 11 of the 13 individual races, and in seven races W&L had at least three of the top five.

Junior Anne Spencer, sophomores Megan Wiedmaier and Bligh Wollner, and freshmen Margaret Hoehl and Greta Richter all won individual races for W&L. Senior co-captain Jill Sheets was one of a group of swimmers that were part of a conference champion relay team. Others included junior Laura Marshall, sophomores Kendell Cruickshanks and Taryn Kiekow along with freshman Courtney Tyler.

Senior Rebekah Prince leads the Generals to their third straight ODAC/ASC title.

Men's Swimming

Even with limited numbers all season, the W&L men's swimming team finished off its season in fine form, coming in second place at the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference Invitational Championship. Combined with that achievement, W&L provisionally qualified three swimmers and two relay teams while automatically entering one other swimmer to the NCAA Division III Championships.

Small numbers impeded the Generals in dual meets as the squad posted a 3-6 record against tough competition. However head coach Page Remillard was not necessarily looking for dual meet wins as much as improvement by individual swimmers to get ready for postseason competition. He got exactly what he was looking for at the SCAC Invitational.

The Generals placed second out of eight teams--just 17.5 points behind hoist Sewanee, which benefited from 108 diving points that W&L does not compete in.

First place finishes by junior Nathan Hottle and senior David Stillman paced the Generals. Hottle captured first place in the 200 individual medley and 200 breast, both in NCAA automatically qualifying times. He also took first in the 400 IM. Stillman cruised to top finishes in the 50 and 100 free, making the NCAA 'B' cut in the 50. Sophomore Jonathan Reed and senior Craig Sears also made the provisional qualifying times in the 100 breast and 200 IM, respectively, with Reed winning the 100 breast.

All five of the Generals' relay teams took top billing at the SCAC Invitational with two of them earning provisional recognition by the NCAA. Stillman, Sears, Brad Wymore, and Hottle teamed up to make the 'B' cut in the 200 free relay while Stillman, Hottle, Steve Brigance, and Sears accomplished the same feat in the 400 free.

"The dual meet record is a reflection of the size of our team, not our talent," said Remillard. "The championship performance is a reflection of the talent on this team as well as the long-term dedication, commitment, and loyalty of the individual swimmers. I am honored to be associated with these kids."

W&L moved one step closer to a national championship in 1996, reaching the NCAA Division III title match for the first time in school history. The Generals finished the year with a sterling 19-1 record, the only loss coming to Emory in the championship match.

The Generals fall season was capped by Julie Ayers and Natalia Garcia winning the Rolex National doubles title and the team never slowed up in the spring. W&L went 16-0 in the regular season and captured the ODAC Player of the Year after winning the No. 1 singles title and teaming with Ayers to win at No. 2 doubles. Also winning titles for the Generals were Ericka Shapard, Berry Blankinship, Shelley Sunderman, and Mary Celeste Foster.

W&L entered the NCAA's at Kalamazoo College ranked fourth in the country and opened play with a 5-0 dismantling of Sewanee. In the quarterfinals W&L rallied from a 2-1 deficit after doubles to beat Pomona-Pitzer 5-2. The Generals continued to play inspired tennis in the semifinals, upsetting second-seeded Trinity 5-2. The Generals ran out of steam in the finals, bowing to Emory 5-1.

Ayers and Garcia were named All-Americans in doubles and Garcia earned All-America honors in singles as well, reaching the quarterfinals of the national singles championship.

Washington and Lee's fall from the top of the ODAC tennis ladder was a short one. After winning the ODAC title for 10 years in a row, the Generals finished second in 1995. This year they won eight of the nine flights at the ODAC championship to reclaim their crown.

Senior Chris MacNaughton paced the way by winning the No. 1 singles flight and the No. 1 doubles flight with Peter Hammond to earn ODAC Player of the Year honors. Hammond also won the No. 2 singles flight and other singles champions were Dale Pretila, Jesse Taylor, and Ryan Aday. Taylor and Aday teamed up to win the No. 2 doubles title and Pretila teamed up with classmate Scott Babka to win the No. 3 doubles title.

One of the nation's top programs continued to excel in 1996 as the Generals went 9-5 to post a winning record for the seventh straight year.

W&L opened the season with an 8-2 mark with the two losses coming by a combined three goals before faltering a bit down the stretch. Among W&L's top wins were a 12-5 victory over Lynchburg and a 12-8 victory over Mary Washington. The Generals finished second in the ODAC in the regular season before losing in the conference tournament semifinals.

Senior Cinnie Logan was a first-team All-ODAC selection after sharing team scoring honors with 33 goals and junior goalie Brooke Glenn was also a first team selection after ranking among the national leaders in save percentage and goals against average all year.

Junior Erika Snyder headed W&L's sec-

Just a few goals separated the 1996 Generals from greatness. W&L went 10-5 with three of its losses coming by a single goal in overtime, all on the road. The Generals finished the season ranked 12th in Division III and beat VMI in the Lee-Jackson Lacrosse Classic for the eighth straight year, this time in front of a crowd of over 4,000 on Wilson Field.

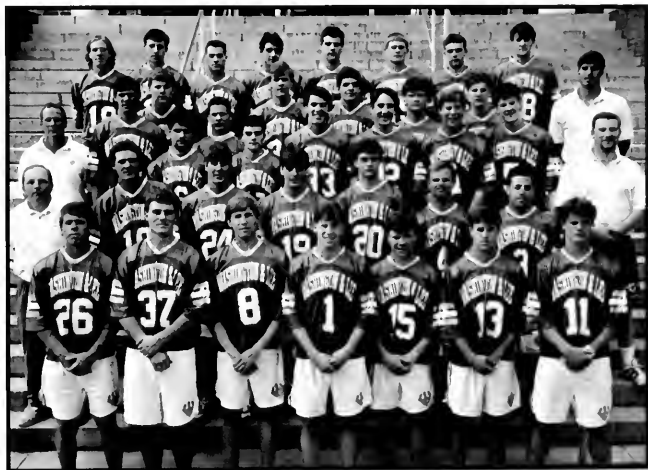

The Generals opened the season with four straight ODAC wins before losing 11-7 to Cortland State on a muddy Wilson Field. W&L bounced back by thrashing playoff bound Gettysburg 12-5 at Rockbridge County High School, but the Generals' own playoff hopes faded with three losses in a four-game stretch. W&L fell to Franklin and Marshall, Denison, and Roanoke on the road in overtime. Denison and Roanoke went on to earn NCAA playoff bids.

W&L placed a league-high five players on the All-ODAC first team, led by junior attackman Ande Jenkins who had a prolific scoring year with 45 goals and 19 assists. He was joined on the team by senior attackman Russell Croft, senior midfielder Adam Butterworth, senior defenseman Lee Counselman and junior defenseman Jay Johnson.

Women's Track & Field

W&L was unable to defend its title at the ODAC championship, but the Generals completed a banner season by breaking 11 school records.

Senior Josephine Schaeffer completed her stellar career in fine fashion. Schaeffer won the mile and two mile runs at the ODAC indoor championships and then won the 1,500 and 3,000 meter runs at the outdoor championships, establishing a new conference record in the 1,500. Schaeffer also won the 10,000 meter run at the W&L Invitational and qualified for both the NCAA Division III indoor and outdoor championships. Schaeffer placed seventh in the 5,000 at the indoor meet and then took 11th in the 5,000 and the 10,000 at the outdoor meet.

Another record breaker for the Generals was freshman Natasha Dorofeeva who won the 800 meter run at the ODAC championship in a school and conference record time of 2:23.97. Senior Sandra Holmes completed her fine career by taking second place in the shot put, discus, and javelin at the ODAC championship to lead the team in scoring.

Men's Track & Field

The Generals' third place finish at the ODAC championship wasn't as high as the team would have liked to place, but there were a number of outstanding performances, highlighted by senior tri-captain Harris Morrison.

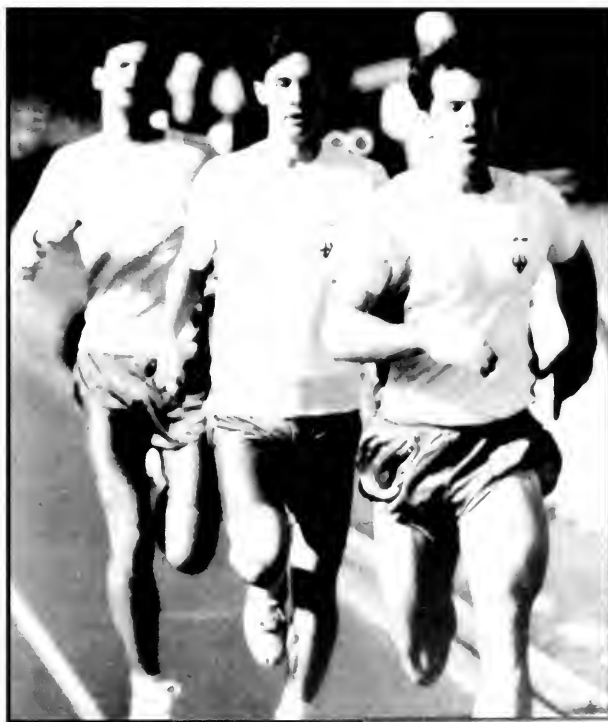

Morrison won the pole vault at the ODAC outdoor championship, capping his sixth straight title at the league indoor and outdoor meets. He vaulted a career-best 14-5 1/4 at the Duke Invitational during the season.

W&L also got an ODAC title from junior Sandy Hooper in the 800 meter run. Hooper ran a career-best time of 1:57.61 to edge out his nearest competition by over two full seconds.

W&L also boasted the two best shot putters in the league. Freshman Marc Granger threw 40-9 1/2 to win the outdoor title over teammate Omar Moneim by three and a quarter inches. Moneim won the shot put at the indoor meet with a throw over 42 feet.

Senior Harris Morrison capped off his sixth straight title at the league indoor and outdoor meets by winning the pole vault at the ODAC outdoor championship.

Baseball

A strong senior class vaulted the Generals to their best season in over 60 years. W&L finished the season with a 16-13 record the second most wins in school history, and placed second in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference in the regular season.

Senior co-captains Matt Ermigiotti and Graig Fantuzzi led the way. Ermigiotti earned second team all-league honors in the field and on the mound after hitting .354 with 25 RBIs and compiling a 6-5 pitching record with a 3.15 earned run average. Fantuzzi was named first team all-league and second team All-South after hitting a team-high .378 with team-highs in hits (45-new school record), doubles (13-new school record), RBIs (28-tied school record), and stolen bases (17).

W&L carried just an 8-9 record at the midpoint of the season but won eight of their final nine regular season games, including six straight in the ODAC, to clinch the No. 2 seed in the ODAC tournament. W&L faced Virginia Wesleyan in the opening round at Lynchburg City Stadium, but committed six errors in a 6-3 game loss. The Generals were then eliminated by Lynchburg in the second round. Freshman shortstop Patrick Hall was named to the all-tourney team. He hit .349 for the season with 10 doubles and 28 RBI.

The Generals bid for an unprecedented third straight ODAC championship came up just short as they finished two shots behind Hampden-Sydney at the league championship. Still, it was another impressive year for the W&L linksters.

W&L captured ODAC round-robin events at Roanoke and on its own home course and finished ahead of Guilford at the league championship for the third straight year. Guilford went on to post a top-ten finish at the NCAA Division III championships for the third straight year.

W&L was paced by senior Scott Miller and junior Tommy Dudley who were both named to the All-Old Dominion Athletic Conference team. Dudley led the Generals in stroke average for the second straight year and finished third at the ODAC championships, one place behind Miller who had a career best second place finish.

Once again the Brothers of the Alpha Rho chapter of Beta Theta Pi dominated the W&L Fratmosphere. The town loved us, the chicks loved us, even the hill couldn't get enough of us irrepressible Betas.

Beta's year began early in September with our most successful Rush in years. Beta continued in its tradition of silly rush antics and pinpoint accurate conversation as we dazzled 15 freshmen away from the competition. We rolled into October and prepared for Homecoming weekend which saw the return of such faces as Jonesy, Wazzer, and Jamie "going to call mom" Cann.

After Thanksgiving break, the Dragons arrived back in Lexington feeling a bit saucy. The end of Fall term was marked by a memorable Christmas weekend. A festive meal provided by Mr. Hazelwood, the annual riding of the Beta Christmas tree and the unsuccessful attempts of 'Quato' were showcased. Fueled by the ruthlessness of the annual Beta wish list, Brother Bauer had a little accident in Red Square. Finally pieced all together by the following Wednesday, it seemed a good time was had by all.

Beta returned for Winter term to once again find themselves on the exalted status of double secret probation. Unfortunately, Brothers Bauer and Burton were not to return to campus until they could learn to play nicely with others. Despite the frigid winter the Brothers of Beta succeeded in keeping their fires lit and their beds warm. The seventies and St. Patrick's day mixers provided a lot of action, and some especially fat action for a select few.

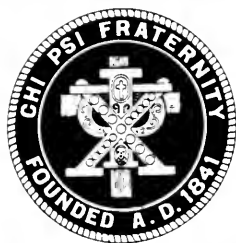

As Spring Term began, Women and Lacrosse were in the air. The Lax boys were captained by Brothers Butterworth and Croft. Of the Tequila Sunrise fiesta, Brother TeStrake said, 'We drink more by nine in the morning than most people drink all day.' The world renowned Beta Wine and Cheese Party came off without a hitch.

The Brothers of Beta Theta Pi would like to wish our eight graduating seniors our best as the venture into the world. The nefarious mastermind of David Orth, the incredible staring abilities of Michael 'Bird Dog' Burton, the 'PG' mentality of Brett Whitaker, the anti-social reclusiveness of Thomas 'Bones' Donnelly, the BMOC friendliness of Russel Croft, the thespian drive of Chris Buford, the cheesy lines of Adam Butterworth and the down home flavor of Tzar Jeffrey McClure will be missed by all.

All our activities of the year were overshadowed by the passing of our Brother David Thompson '96. David was a great friend to everyone who knew him. David worked hard on the lacrosse field and in the classroom. 'DT' was one of those rare people that no one could ever say a bad thing about. Few people will be as sorely missed.

The brothers of Chi Psi returned to the Lodge for a nonexistent work week, but we had the good sense to at least put a little effort into rush. Despite -- thanks to (?) -- a slurred and mangled rush speech by our ephemeral Rush Chairman, Andrew Niblock, we did manage to snag 17 "solid" guys, including the likes of Ebola, Ex-Lax, Townie, and Spanky.

We were spared the lengthy Homecoming soliloquy by Andy this year because he wasn't in charge anymore. With a banquet instead of Hot Box on the front lawn, the only "Barbecue" we had this fall term was Halloween, with the Skinnees playing half-a-set then bolting. Blue Miracle and Duane joined us for Christmas weekend, but only after we threw our tree out the window.

Coming back to Lexington, we initiated the 12 pledges that we liked (sort of), and topped it off with the Ernies and Uncle Mingo for Chi Psicotic. We were joined at the Mock CONvention by "the Amish", "Boyz-to-Men" and the Convertibles, whose sound guy finally agreed to come back to the Lodge. A few weeks later we introduced a new sport, keg relays across town, and so began the first Beef Boras night at the Lodge.

FD '96 would not have been the same without Rockbone, who was joined by his followers, T-Bone and WishBone, one of whom passed out all day Saturday while the other gave his farewell award winning performance Saturday night. Duane got things started with his Beasties mix Friday night after the ball and didn't stop until the darkhorse, Sloth, was the last one standing Sunday morning, doublefisting it and, as usual, smiling. In between the Zen Tricksters were somewhat taken back by Sacha and Big Kid, who entertained us with a Ted Ritchie memorial jam session on the front lawn. Boy O Boy skaed through the night until Duane brought that Beef Boras session to a close.

We say goodbye this year to our largest class, knowing that next year we will have to work extra hard to replace all four of them. Trick, Jerry, Nitche, and Cliff, at least you all know where you will be next year. That's a lot more than what we can say.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College in Lexington, Virginia, in 1865. Over 130 years later, the Alpha Chapter proved to be as solid as ever.

Under the fearless leadership of Harris 'Teets' Morrison and his invaluable cabinet of advisors, David Fratgate and Drewby Thomas, KA enjoyed another outstanding year. Brothers played significant roles on the Hill and on the athletic fields. KA's held positions on the EC, SAB, Kathekon, and the SCC. Brothers also participated in a number of varsity sports including football, baseball, golf, and track, with Stu serving as captain of the football team and Teets captaining the track team. Alpha was also proud of Ruprect Russell who was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa.

The year also featured a number of memorable social events. The year started off with a boom at the annual Beach Party, as inclement weather did not slow the brothers a bit. Xmas Weekend was highlighted by Felton's off-road exhibition at the Bowl, narrowly escaping Lexington's finest. Brother Smith enjoyed no such luck at Mock Convention, surrendering to authorities after over-exercising his First Amendment rights. Brother Vollbrecht's Shitkicker's Weekend was cut short with an emergency trip to the dentist, with Brother Achee in tow for moral support. Brother Bixby is rumored to be settling out of court for damages. As always, Fancy Dress provided a perfect arena for the antics of Brother Fosgate and his UGA import Benner.

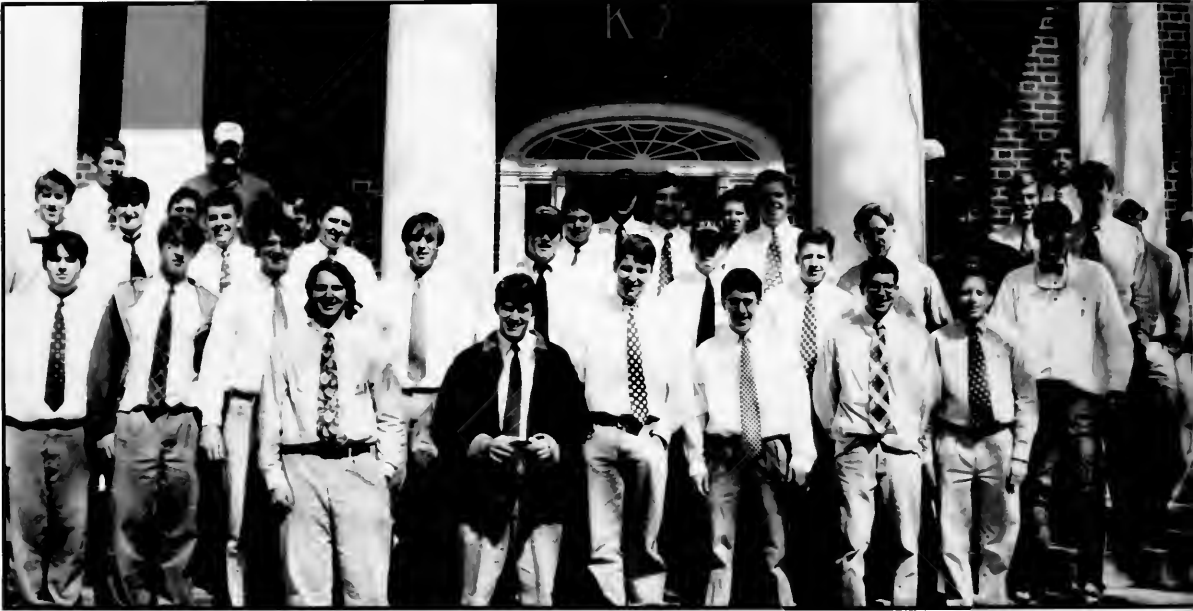

The future looks bright for Kappa Alpha under the leadership of Chad Shuford and his advisors, Richard Hickson and Dicky Thomas. They will forge ahead despite the departure of the senior class. We wish them luck in the future. The square root of Ruprect/Stu+Morty - (Heed +Vollbrecht²) + (TeetsXGeldy)/Theops=Quai/(Dobbler+Leed)³ - (GloidXEiland) + (Mickler-Fielding). Fos GTP Brothers!

1995-1996 proved another successful year for the illustrious brothers of Kappa Sigma. Rush saw us pledge thirteen individuals who proved that there is always a need for pledgship. Christmas Weesend was their one shining moment, when they serenaded the brotherhood with the words: "Satan has no power." Although Satan was to drunk to have any power, he emerged quite victorious in the end. S-Ray-E stepped down from great years of leadership on the IFC. Thanks for Winter Rush, Ray. In his competition with Ray's slap-aing performance, T-downg returned triumverantly from his romantic exploits. Cloud found Long-Island love in his attempt to become more like Yahweh. Shela and Phil found one another. Cannon fell in love with the veteran help at Spanky's and now enjoys driving the pink Amigo, (the company car). Cheese fell in and out and in and out and in love with some chick from JMU that we have never met, and now enjoys the breakfast of champions three or four times a week. Sneaky, after two years of mourning over his lost love, has now found love in the color red. The Mexican finally got it on to the tune of "Dude Looks Like A Lady." After Townes' long courtship with Mary Jane began to smoulder, the spark between Townes and Courtney created a lot of smoke. Grandpa lost control of his bladder and now wears Depends undergarments, (I'm just saying!) Mayday has given up dentistry for the greener pastures of medeling for Rogaine. Didier ensured that the "Didier" tradition will continue for many years by endorsing the crowned prince. Z-man brome many bottles after having lost love to Alvin the chipmunk. Farewell Prince, Dodd, and Harpold. We had a hell of a time without you.

As the 1995-96 school year winds to a close, we take this opportunity to sober up, look back on our year, and unite once more in committing our memories to posterity. We returned to campus ready for Rush. September brought us as many memories as it took away including Eric and his three story waterfall. By the end, we picked up seven..., no eight..., no make that nine freshman.

Wuup! He's back! Homecoming also brought our salute to the Five Star Generals (yeah, we can't believe they let us get away with it either.) and assault and battery was the norm for Ryan. Beyond that, the Gimp appeared as Trudy went tiptoeing through the tulips again! As fall went on, we held our annual Haunted House for the United Way (Heez a Cheeater!) and our food drive collected over 3000 lbs. for local foodbanks.

Christmas brought Duet Tape for Demian's self-control, Doug Clark and the Hotnuts, AWOL brothers at breakfast, and ... a Jewish Santa! Oy Vay Marhah, pass the Maneshevitz! Also, the KA-Lambda Chi Tree War ended not with a bang, but a whimper as the final year passed without a KA pledge assault.

Winter Term brough mystery to the 3rd floor and an Indian race war to the bandroom--why can't we all just get along? Mardi Gras brought lots of good times and Satanic Verses from above. BAM! Like a flash, Ryan's car was missing on Fat Tuesday. Rust! You're going the wrong way!

Mock Con proved that Ted Kennedy has the right mix of politics and bourbon. Danny boy, it's only 6 am. FD brought Rodger Day and cardboard romance.

Spring Term showed us that no distance is too far for love, right Josh? And also, where ther's a will, there's a beer, uh..., we mean way.

Finally Charlotte left us for Arkansas but Dixie showed up to take her place. And yes, lest anyone out there still has doubts, Janie proved that sometimes the cut can never be clean enough. Ron, Dave, Pete, and Ryan are moving on. Thanks for your inspiration, you'll be missed.

Despite the departure of our beloved nine-toed, red-headed leader, the fightin' Phis were able to remain the fratty front runners for yet another year in 1995-1996. First and foremost, the Phis are eternally grateful that John Walter Ransom 'the Nate-doggy-dog' James was able to cheat death once again and add yet another year to his horribly decrepit body...congratulations Ransom!! The Phis are also in great debt to members Speedy 'I didn't do it' Reedy and V.P. Richards who were able to help us purchase the back wall in the Palms by abiding to their motto, 'We only hit things that don't hit back.' Another hearty congratulations goes out to Brother John Fergusson who was able to accomplish the as-of-yet seemingly impossible...John actually drank himself out of existence.

On the more serious side of the coin, Phi Delta Theta was able to establish itself as a leadership stronghold. Sandy Hooper was elected Executive Committee President for 1996-1997, Ryan Connolly served a successful year as President of the IFC, and Colin Looney was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. As well, the Phis contributed on the athletic field: Colin Looney captained the wrestling team, Chris MacNaughton was captain of the tennis team, Jon Coffman was captain of the basketball team, Jeb Wofford was captain of the soccer team, while Brooks Fischer led the Generals at the helm of the football team, and will serve as captain of the 1996-1997 team. However, the Phis enjoyed their most noted distinction when Matt Reedy set the W&L record for the number of saves in one baseball season.

All in all, the year has provided many memories (for those who can remember) and will serve as another notch in the belt of history of the fightin' Phis.

The 1995-96 School Year was another successful one for the brothers of the Zeta Deuteron Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. In this, their first year back on campus after serving a twelve month suspension, the FIJ reclaimed residence in their beloved home on 112 West Preston.

As usual, the brothers maintained a busy social schedule that included Homecoming festivities, Christmas Weekend, the annual Champagnes formal, and various functions during this year's Mock Convention. In addition, the brothers capped off their year with their annual FIJI Islands party and Alumni Weekend.

Many brothers distinguished themselves through participation in various athletics and on campus activities. This year's house was represented on the football, basketball, baseball, track, wrestling, soccer, and water polo teams as well as boasting one of the most rigorous foosball schedules on campus.

Although the house was bolstered by the addition of seven outstanding freshmen, it will sorely miss the five seniors that will graduate this June. The underclass brothers of FIJ wish the best for Nice Pope, Tenderbird Rice, The Lounge Lizard Cheng, Dog Boy Jander and La Cabeza de Carne Anthou as they venture into the "real" world for the first time and say farewell to the comfort and protection of the FIJ.

"The Phi Psi" began the 1995-1996 school year with yet another successful rush. During pledgship, the freshmen developed extremely close bonds, pledge Lehman even built a spaceship for his alien brother. Phi Psi brothers again were well represented among all aspects of campus life with representatives on the EC, SCC, and IFC. In addition, Phi Psis played a large role in inter-collegiate teams including football, basketball, baseball, water polo, tennis, wrestling, lacrosse, golf, and track.

With freshman dues, Phi Psi purchased a DDS satellite TV service, much to the delight of Derek Carter. Stephen Pehrkon renovated Howe Annex for Professor Stene in order to make room for all the brothers who scrambled to get into design. Less serious academics like Chris Baldwin threw tantrums in the yard after C-School exams, while other brothers concentrated their efforts on cutting and pasting.

Socially, while Jim Wilson was romping through the Australian outback, Jon Garvey taught his best friend's sister about college life, and the 'dangerous' Jon Bartlett managed to outlast the competition and capture the hearts of several Pi Phi initiates. Christmas Weekend provided the senior class with an opportunity to exceed the sex limit at the annual Palms marathon, Santa himself managed to deliver a few gifts between brawling with his pledge class. Whistles and air guitars graced the pole house as the sounds of Bon Jovi, Skid Row and the Scorpions rocked St. Patty's Day.

Phi Psi bids a fond farewell to several of the following seniors. The 1995-96 school year has been a skullrific period in the history of Phi Kap at W&L. the year began with the Nathan Shepherd band sending the Brothers of the Skull into an all-night frenzy. Fall term continued in this skullrific tone with Phi Kap emerging from illiteracy and moving up the W&L academic ladder. We have our pledge class to thank for that. Athletics was no exception as the skulls contributed to successful soccer, football, and rugby seasons; not to mention ultimate dominion of intramural football. The last Christmas weekend with Elvis and his pledge brothers was marked with an all out bash - skull style.

Winter term allowed Phi Kap to truly shine as the skulls took over the lacrosse field and swimming pool. With unparalleled athletic ability, we were unable to be stopped on land or in water. The 102nd anniversary of Phi Kappa Sigma was celebrated at Maple Hall and continued with the Waterfall band at the Skull Lodge. Alas, 1995-96 was a lively year for the Pi chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha. A carefully calculated and executed rush allowed for a net gain of seventeen freshmen; none of whom were subjected to any emotional, physical or psychological humiliation despite what several high-priced attorneys may claim. As for the social calendar, it started out slow due to the retirement of debts incurred by the recently departed and beloved class of 1995. Among the highlights of the social calendar were the failed mixer with Theta, the 657 keg marathon at Munster (we could not hit 700 because Mayhew had to go see his girlfriend), and of course the merriment of FD, when a cheese ball managed to puncture a window. Homecoming was also neat as well as the freshmen St. Patricks/Bahamas/Reggae/Quanza Party. Unfortunately, during the course of the year we lost a newly initiated freshman to smallpox. Mondays were always interesting evenings at the house when a regular gathering of Nitro fans tended to spark heated controversy among the sophomores.

On the athletic field PiKA's once again failed to prevent the inevitable. The water polo team started out strong. Braden and Blackwell's defense allowed Cober, Silberstein, and the Shark of the Nile, Ben Yemini, to pile up the points against some tough competitors. First Johns Hopkins fell, then Navy, then Wehrmacht. Unfortunately those two victories were followed by a series of floggings to such polo greats as Richmond and South-Central West Virginia College of Alchemy. The basketball team, with an incredible three PiKA's, faired even worse. Coincidence? Cam Dyer once again dominated, scoring over half of W&L's average 53 points per game.

In the Warner Center there were also many lively hecklers annoying unsuspecting players. Due to 'pledge reconnaissance' it was discovered that na opposing Randolph-Macon player's father had been killed in a tragic laundry accident. The constant heckling and taunting made this player leave the court in tears. In don't think we will be seeing Ol' Bloody Sheets next year. Mike Dirman averaged 26 steals per game. Three cheers to the Bitch and Playboy 'Buddy' Bracket, who led W&L into the ODAC championship in the Biathlon. Best of luck to J.D. in fulfilling his obligation to Her Royal Highness in Hong Kong serving as agent 004.

We bid farewell to the few remaining seniors and Garde in '96. Good luck wherever you end up and don't drop the soap.

The 1995-96 school year has proved to be a memorable one for the brothers of Rho chapter, marking our 75th year at W&L. We made out well on the Rush scene, initiating 15 members in March.

We kicked off the year by bringing the Sick Dogs and the Six Million Dollar band back to town where they proceeded to tear the roof off. Another notable success was our now annual Pimps and Prostitutes party with one of our favorite sororities. The guys were decked out in some fine pimp gear while the girls opted for the bare minimum which made for a wild time for all-the dog leash was definately an added bonus this year. Our Christmas Weekend and FD lived up to expectations and impressed all. Spring term was one not soon to be forgotten. Foxfield and our Rose Ball were the highpoints of a dazed six weeks which no one will be able to remember but everyone agrees that it was a hell of a lot of fun.

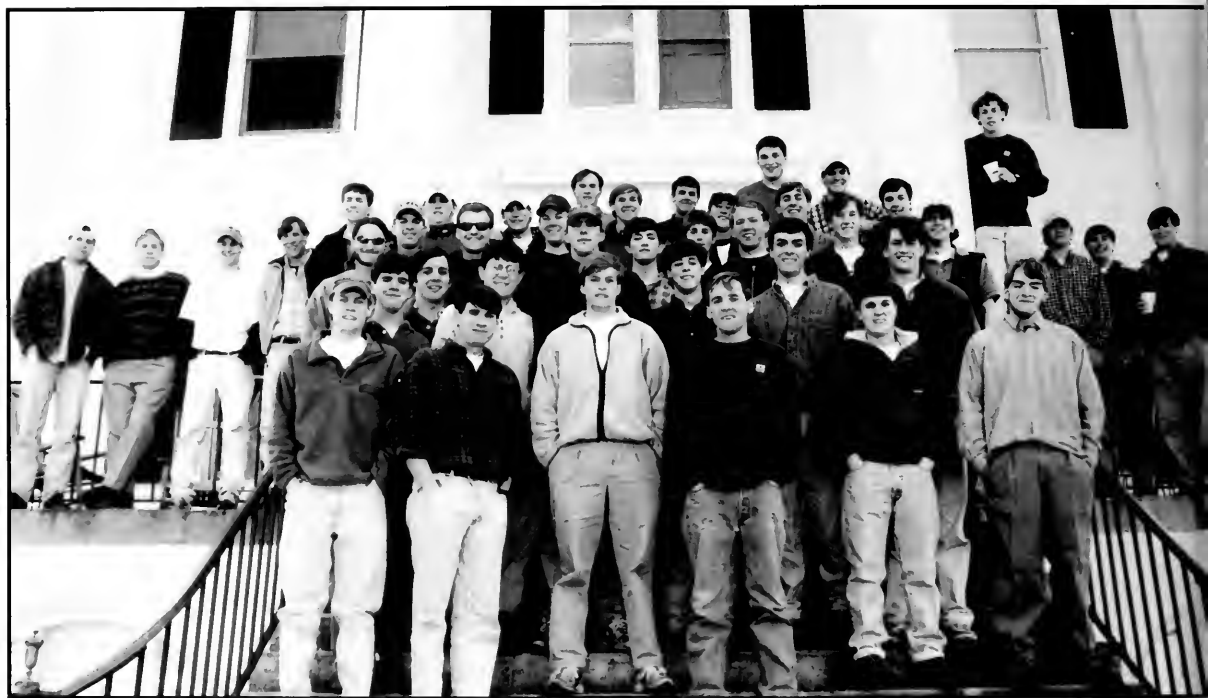

With all these parties going on it's amazing that we have brothers in every aspect of W&L. The soccer team is dominated by Rho and we also have brothers on the baseball, lacrosse, golf, and swim teams. Anthony Mazzarelli took over as IFC president which other brothers filled in the ranks of numerous other activities.

This year Rho chapter graduates 12 seniors who will be missed. Best of luck to you in the future.

The 1995-96 school year bid the last remnants of the old house goodbye. Led by our capable president Bryce Philpot, the seniors who leave is certainly ensured the performance of the old ways.

Zeta Chapter once again provided influential leadership for the University. Jason Ward served as head dorm counselor, while his alter ego S.R. Evans tried to keep up as assistant dorm counselor. Next year Chas Frank and Doherty will join the ranks of the "esteemed" to have fun. And always the Sig at heart, Grahm Frey, will be sorely missed on the track and football team and by the order of southern gentlemen. Other than the cheeseballs and sirtarellies down on the hill, the soccer team was also led by Chad Dobbins, Mike Matechak, and the ever dynamic Andy Daters. Derek Vansant also saw success at numerous courses like Avenal, Scottsdale, and Pebble Beach. Sears stroked, hard (in the pool).

Unfortunately the Zeta Chapter had to say farewell to on of its most productive and influential bretheren. Brian Todd Guy was a true Sig, a man of good character, a student of fair ability, etc. etc. However, with the much anticipated return of Cashill and his wife and young family from Spain, the Zetas hope to fill the void left by the departure of Todd Guy.

As the year closes we look back to the class that now leaves us behind and are grateful for their past accomplishments and the vision they have given us for the future.

The 1995-96 school year may go down in Lambda Chapter history as the year of the foose, but the brothers of Sigma Nu will remember it for much more. The year began with Flick leading us on the Rush warpath. Despite some tense moments early in the final week, Rush concluded with the house snaring sixteen new freshmen and a Tear Night Party with the funkiest white people alive, 'The Six Million Dollar Band.'

As the fall term progressed, the freshmen went through pledgship which they will always be reminded was 'not as hard as when I was a pledge.' As Big Poppa would say 'All right, I.M.'s.' By using a certain Davidson Park fraternity's boasting 'You've got to beat the best to be the best as bulletin board fodder, we went on a shocking streak, semi-finalists in tennis and soccer and then champions in volleyball and bowling. We also contributed members to the South Regional Champion X-country team. Fall term concluded with our annual White Rose Fromal during Christmas weekend highlighted by Hughes's performance as Santa Claus and the pledges 'almost' scoring a touchdown in the pledge-active game.

Winter term began with the 'Great Debate.' The senior class, seeing their days in power numbered, decided to make one last mark on the chapter. They successfully lobbied the chapter to purchase a new, pricey fooseball table over the protests of some of the younger brothers. With the weight of this decision off our backs, we were free to enjoy the two big weekends of the term. 'Mouth' Olmem and Tobias' months of dedicated work resulted in a memorable Mock Convention. Hughes and his Vermont delegation were featured on the 'Newshour with Jim Lehrer.'

After recovering from Mock Con, we dove right into Fancy Dress Weekend. Even before the ball in the 'Wonderland' built under the direction of Greg Hunt, we had already partied in the 'da hood' on Wednesday and may have set a record on Thursday with four brothers getting to know Virginia ABC a little better. After exams, a number of brothers took Japan by storm with the University Wind Ensemble.

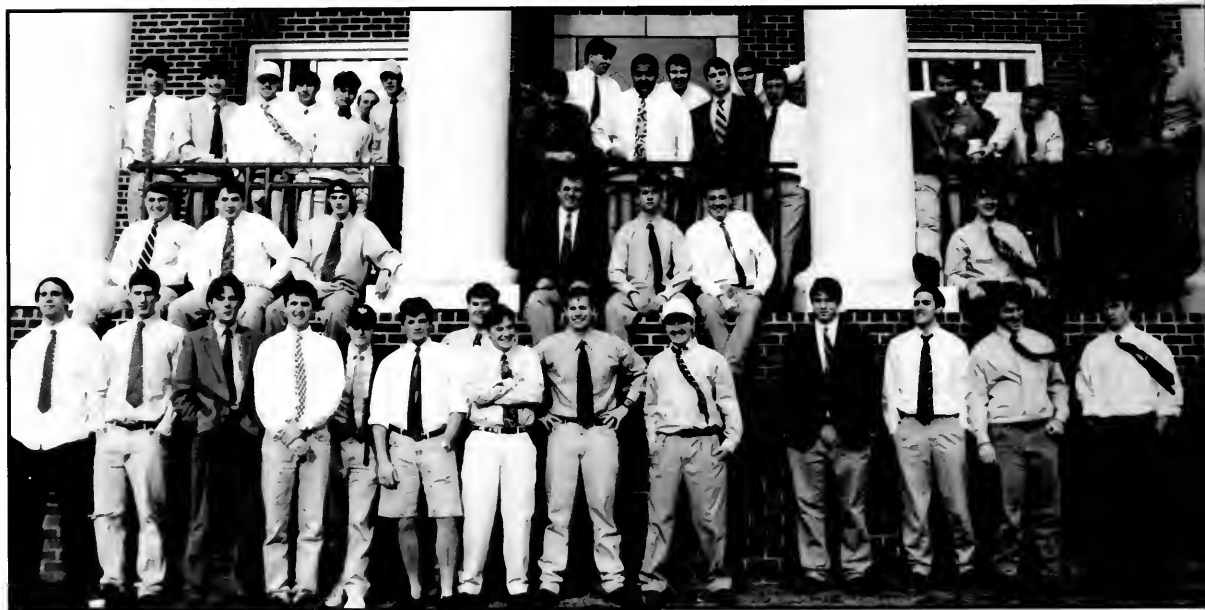

Spring term began slowly with random drinking on Tin Beach. However, things came alive with the return of Nathan, Chris, and the rest of 'Six Million' for Alumni Weekend. After breezing through another week, we partied hard again during our annual Shipwreck weekend party. As the year ended, we said good-bye to both the senior class, who did much more for the house the past four years, and hopefully Wednesday night Flat parties as we knew them.

This was a year of change for the brothers of the Virginia Epsilon Chapter. One bowtied intellectual replaced another as Holliday assumed the advisory job vacated by Manning. Emily was sent to play frisbee and was replaced by Sue and her faction of B&G lackeys. Eargasm made way for the Ram. Orgy pants prevailed. Chili Dog in the library made #1 and the Mange look like novices. JC's streak continued. Ripper finally got to call Dziokabutuka "brother." Rat Boy got showered, twice. Davidson Park erupted over flying chicken and red punch bombs. Lesko came and left. Shea lost his band-aid. The Greek letters were finally on the portal of the House. It's a shame they were not put up sooner. Maybe then the other half of the junior class would have found the house. As for the Pledge class, they didn't amount to much. Actually, they didn't amount to anything. Some things remained the same, however. The Fat Man's car remained in absentia. Babyhead's still shakin'. Schmidt's silence inspired us all while the Millman never shut up. Ginni maintained his hand in the cradle. Teetsy Fly's still creepin' and Tory's obsession with SHOCKER lives on. The Lex 8 continued to disgrace the House. And "cute little guys" repeatedly made us proud in I.M.s. We will miss Gerbil, Roach, Skeletor, Snots, Harris, Homer, Cletus, Sweetpotato, and Gobo. Take care Larse, and remember, "you don't have zeppelins in Taiwan." Stop the Pain.

The Xi Lambda chapter of Chi Omega had another incredible year under the leadership of old president Sarah Brombacher and new president Callie James. The year flew by as our sisters proved to be outstanding leaders in the classroom, on the athletic field, and on the social scene.

Chi-O's were involved in every aspect of student life, and were active in many groups, including Kathekon, SAB, Fancy Dress, class officers, the Trident, peer counselors, dorm counselors, and Jubilee. The presidents of the Junior and Senior classes were Chi-O's as well as the leaders of the Decade committee celebrating 10 years of women at W&L. Mock Con gave our sisters another chance to shine in various roles, including many state chairs.

Despite the busy schedules, we found time to contribute to the community by sponsoring the annual Making Strides Walkathon, selling missletoe at Christmas to raise money for charity, and volunteering for RACASA and Habitat for Humanity.

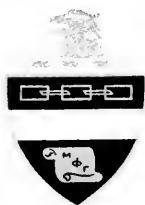

We also found time for fun, with social events such as fraternity mixers, 'grab a date' parties, Persephone's Gala, White Carnation Semifomal, Headbanger's Ball with Theta, Dark Side of the Moon with Kappa, and an 80's party with Pi Phi.

Chi-O's showcased their athletic abilities in track, tennis, lacrosse, and swimming. We also showed our skills during Intramural games and Derby Days events.

An outstanding rush gave us 35 new members to carry on Chi Omega's strong traditions and sisterhood. We wish our graduating seniors the best of luck in the future. We'll miss you!

Thetas have once again kept themselves busy throughout the school year participating in every aspect of campus life.

The year began with our annual 'Witch Watch' at Halloween when Thetas helped to patrol the Lexington neighborhoods. We raised money for Court Appointed Special Advocates by winning first place in the annual SAMS Lip Synch contest with the act 'Thriller' starring three year veteran April Cheney. We're sure they'll be back next year to defend their title. We raised money for the American Heart Association through our Valentine's Day Rose Sale. Showing their spirit and enthusiasm, Thetas once again raised money on behalf of Court Appointed Special Advocates by winning first place in Sigma Chi's Derby Days. In addition, Thetas filled the sandbox at Kids' Place and painted a map of the United States on the playground of Waddell Elementary School. Thetas ended the year with the second annual Date Auction on behalf of Project Horizon.

This year Thetas held numerous leadership positions. Our very own Courtney Tucker did an outstanding job as tri-chair for the 1996 Mock Convention. Theta president Ashley Bell very successfully organized the 1996 Fancy Dress Ball. Under the guidance of scholarship chair Jenni Royster, members Susie Prevost, Lisa Smith, and Courtney Tucker were inducted into ODK and members Lauren Willson, Aloise Bozell, Lisa Murphy and Hillary Rhodes were inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. Rush chair Lisa Smith carried out one of our best rushes in Theta history, her hard work paying off with the initiation of 38 awesome new members.

We of course kept busy with our various social events such as our Twin Stars Ball, My-Tie, Kite and Key, Spring Fling, Grab-A-Date Bowling, and Headbangers. And let us not forget our various fraternity mixers such as the Toga party and Seventies party with Beta, Bahamas party with Pi Phi, and Breakfast with Phi Psi.

Theta wishes the best of luck to all of our seniors as they enter the post collegiate world, and thanks them for their countless contributions and support over their years at Washington and Lee.

The 1995 - 1996 school year proved to be yet another great year for Kappa Kappa Gamma. the presence of the Zeta Tau chapter at W & L was rivaled only by the snow, as Kappas proved once again that their hard work on the hill is matched by equally vigorous play. Leading the chapter into another academic year was Kappa president Betsy Blunt, who passed to torch to Anna O'Connor in the spring.

Kappa Kappa Gamma's representation on the hill has made them virtual 'wonder women' of campus activities. Many Kappas could be seen welcoming incoming freshmen as FOC members, big sisters, small group leaders, and dorm counselors. The chapter shined Homecoming weekend, winning 'best float' and congratulating Homecoming Queen Caroline Connolly. Kappa's were active in the choir, orchestra, and in the theater. Others were instrumental to the success of those 'legendary' parties: Mock Con and F.D. While Kappa is represented on nearly all women's sports teams, senior All-Americans Josephine Schaeffer and Bekah Prince are athletic enough for the whole chapter. Also, Kappa welcomed the initiation of several members into academic societies: Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, and Alpha Epsilon Delta.

All year, members worked and played to raise money for charities. Carving pumpkins at Mayflower nursing home was followed by an unexpected invitation to attend their annual 'dance party,' where Kappas picked up some new moves for next years Rush skit. Bowlathon, which raised money for the United Way, was another highlight of Kappa's year of philanthropy. Rush was successful, as Kappa pledged 39 unassuming freshmen. Throughout the year, the chapter enjoyed mixers with the sororities and a few 'unprecedented' mixers with fraternities, thanks to social chairman Kylie Edwards.

Although the Zeta Tau chapter will miss their graduating sisters of the class of 96, they have left us strong and inspired, and just a little scared that none of the rest of us can cook! Best wishes for the happiest of futures in the real world - KKT.

ΠΒΦ

The 1995-1996 year was an unforgettable one for the VA Theta Chapter of Pi Beta Phi. Under the leadership of president Julie Ayers we had a great fall term.

Pi Phis could be seen everywhere on campus this year. From the Phi and Calyx Editors, to Lenfest, to the sports fields Pi Phis strove to be the best. We also did a lot of work with our philanthropy, Links to Literacy as well as our new project, "The Angle Tree."

Rush brought us 27 incredible girls. Their stellar Lip Synch performance made Pi Phi proud. After rush, Marie Lamb took over as President for a winter and spring term that would be full of excitement....

Observing the W&L tradition: Work Hard, Play Hard, the Pi Phis enjoyed many social events. Beaux and Arrows was a great success, ask Annie! Also, our "Destination Unknown" to a hockey game was a welcomed addition to our social calendar. Taking the place of Blue Jean Ball was our 80s party with Chi O, and Spring Fling with Theta was a good time. And then there was our Spring Formal....what can we say girls? I have heard that the swimming was good.....Gretch?

All kidding aside, it was an incredible year for Pi Phi. We will really miss our seniors. Y'all are great! Good luck in the "real world!"

In Loving Memory
of
David ("D.T.") Thompson
(October 23, 1973 - January 28, 1996)

There are no words that can even come close to telling you how much you have been, and always will be, loved and missed. You have given me 22 years of wonderful memories and incredible happiness. There is no way I could ever describe the tremendous void in my life or in the lives of everyone who has been fortunate enough to know you. You grew up and have been the kind of son that any mother would wish for. I was lucky enough to have been your mother.

David, you have always been thoughtful, kind, conscientious, patient, hardworking, had high morals, and been incredibly organized! No matter how difficult times were, you maintained an even disposition. You never spoke ill of others, never complained, and always put others before yourself. You strove for perfection and would not settle for less. You persevered until you achieved your goals even when you set very high standards for yourself. Somehow, you would always find a smile which was contagious and helped others smile or laugh.

The tributes which have been given to you from everyone who knew you have been so incredibly wonderful and very deserved! Because of your modesty, you never gave yourself credit for being so special. I have always known you were special and now I know that there are hundreds of others who know how special you have been,. The world needs more people like you.

Your family, friends, and teachers have truly been devastated by your death. Everyone's memories are very happy and very positive, and I know you will never be forgotten. We all think you are watching over us - smiling and telling us to persevere.

Yes, I am a very, very proud mother! Thank you for giving me the privilege of being your mother. Please be happy and keep smiling. I miss you and love you more than words could ever express.

*Love,
Mom*
